

Secretary's Challenge

The winner of the June challenge was Eileen Halliwell, chosen by Greg Howard at his demonstration in June. Eileen's winning entry is shown here. Well done Eileen, now to the next challenge.

The August challenge is to re-produce this country scene using any medium of your choice. The winner will be chosen by Anthony Robshaw at his August 13th demonstration, so entries in by then please. Usual rules apply, the winner will receive a £10 cash prize.

Can you help?

The Art Circle Secretary recently received this email 'Good Morning, I am the Manager of a PDSA Charity Shop in a small village called Callander in Scotland. We have a donation of a water colour, painted by Tom Watkin in 1999, it depicts a mother and child talking over a fence next to a thatched cottage. Attached to the reverse of the frame is a newspaper cutting mentioning your Art Circle where Tom Watkin won the best exhibition prize for the painting of his pet terrier. Would you be able to give us any more information and a possible value?' If you can help contact Eileen, Secretary BAC. 01942 840571

More pavement art

This is not the first time I have featured pavement art on these pages. I think this is a skill that seems to be largely unrecognised. Is it because the artwork only lasts a couple of days? Make no mistake these are talented artists and deserve as much recognition as 'Banksy'

Trip to Ilkley

Members are reminded that full payment is due by 1st of July. As this newsletter goes to print there may still be a few seats available for anyone wishing to enjoy this great day out. Over 300 works of art by 40 artists will be on show and more than 17 leading brands of art equipment suppliers to buy from. You will also have the opportunity to watch various demos by professional artists. Contact Frank Findlow on 07411431007.

Social Secretary

The trip to Ilkley is likely to be the last trip organised by Bolton Art Circle unless a volunteer steps forward to fill the vacancy. We normally only have a couple of trips per year and Frank is happy to help and advise anyone that wishes to take on this important club position.
